

Contents

Notes on contributors	ii
Acknowledgement	xii
Introduction:
Asian cyberactivism: freedom of expression & media censorship	xiv
- James Gomez and Steven Gan
<hr/>
PART I : Political Frameworks & New Technology
1 Democracy & new communication technology: the Asian struggle	02
- Judith Clarke
2 Cyber democracy in Asia: issues, challenges & prospects	32
- Indrajit Banerjee
3 Why the Internet still matters for Asia's democracy	68
- Geoff Long
PART II : Regulations & Control
4 New media as big brother: the Philippines after September 11	98
- Alecks Pabico

5 Manufacturing control:
new legislations threaten democratic gains in Indonesia 136

- Lukas Luwarso

6 Emulating Singapore:
towards a model for Internet regulation
in Asia 162

- Terence Lee

PART III : One Party States

7 The Internet in Vietnam:
party propaganda or infotainment? 200

- Robin van Koert

8 ICT and the demise of propaganda:
China's Internet experience 234

- Li Xiguang

PART IV : Alternative Media

9 Malaysiakini:
threading a tightrope of political pressure & market factors 270

- Tong Yee Siong

- 10 Fateha.com: 318
challenging control over Malay/Muslim voices in Singapore
- Zulfikar Mohamad Shariff

PART V : Civil Society

- 11 Digital advocacy & the women's movement: 372
global success, grassroots challenge
- Susanna George and Luz Maria Martinez
- 12 Thai civil society & government control: 406
a cyber struggle?
- Prangtip Daorueng
- 13 Cyber jihad: 442
fighting the infidels from Pakistan
- Zafarullah Khan

PART VI : Diaspora Communities

- 14 A virtual Eelam: 474
democracy, Internet & Sri Lanka's
Tamil struggle
- Kasun Ubayasiri

- 15 Mobilising online:
the Burmese diaspora's cyber strategy
against the Junta 514
- Zaw Oo

PART VII : Political Parties

- 16 Incompatible systems:
information technology & politics in India 556
- Seetha
- 17 Online opposition:
the Sam Rainsy party website in Cambodian politics 592
- Men Kimseng
- 18 E-democracy@work:
the 2002 presidential election in Korea 622
- Eun-Jeung Lee