

ASIAN Cyberactivism:

Freedom of Expression
and
Media Censorship

Unlike most publications that focus on the technology, this book focuses on the human actors.

Asian Cyberactivism: Freedom of Expression & Media Censorship records political activism on the Internet and takes stock of some of the successes and failures of cyberactivists as they try to beat the various censorship regimes in Asia.

The book is an insightful look into online political organising in Asia even as the technology and the rules change. Activists provide their perspectives on how new media relates to democracy, and showcase examples that could be emulated to further the cause of democracy.

It is also an insight into the political, societal and legal challenges that cyberactivists have to face, and what this means for democratic development in the region.

Asian Cyberactivism is the first book of its kind, featuring Asian case studies on political activism via new communication technologies like the Internet.

Edited by:
Steven Gan, James Gomez and Uwe Johannsen

Friedrich Naumann
Stiftung

Die Stiftung für liberale Politik

Asian Cyberactivism

Freedom of Expression
and
Media Censorship

Edited by:

Steven Gan, James Gomez
and Uwe Johannsen